Chhocha-ngacha-kha (KHYOD-CHA-NGA-CHA-KHA) is very close to Dzongkha but spoken by the Ngalob settlers in eastern Bhutan especially in Tsamang village and Tsakaling village in Mongar district in Eastern Bhutan. Therefore, it is popularly known as Tsamabi-kha and Tsakalingbi-kha. It is spoken in the villages of Kurmey, Jarey, Tamochhu, Lingmithang, Thridangbi, Minje, Tormazhog, Autsho, Karmashangshang, Gorgen, Budur and Kupinyelsa. It is also spoken in some parts of Lhuntse, Tashigang and Tashiyangtse districts.

An Introduction to Bhutanese Languages

Foreword by
Ven. Lopon Choechong
Joint Editor-in-Chief
Dzongkha Development Commission
Thimphu : Bhutan, 1996

Dr. C. T. DORJI

VIKAS PUBLISHING HOUSE PVT LTD